“Matt Butler’s gritty, powerful voice will carry you to the hard places where the hard choices dwell.”

“The moving collection of music and monologues beautifully illustrates the idea that while we cannot know pleasure without knowing pain, there is no deeper pleasure than knowing that we belong somewhere in the world.”

Grateful Web

“It’s impressive and electrifying — Butler’s harmonious and public healing, that is. He croons about the small towns and swoons over the big city with poignant lyrical content that is sharp, familiar, and soul-stirring.”

THE AQUARIAN
WEEKLY

“It’s simple yet electrifying, with just a guitar and a voice that makes us want to listen.”
